Comprehensive Needs Assessment Components

Data Analysis

Please refer to the School and Student Performance Data section where an analysis is provided.

Analysis of Current Instructional Program

In conjunction with the needs assessments, the categories below may be used to discuss and develop critical findings that characterize current instructional practice for numerically significant subgroups as well as individual students who are:

- Not meeting performance goals
- Meeting performance goals
- Exceeding performance goals

Discussion of each of these statements should result in succinct and focused findings based on verifiable facts. Avoid vague or general descriptions. Each successive school plan should examine the status of these findings and note progress made. Special consideration should be given to any practices, policies, or procedures found to be noncompliant through ongoing monitoring of categorical programs.

Standards, Assessment, and Accountability

1. Use of state and local assessments to modify instruction and improve student achievement

Graham Middle School is committed to providing all students with high quality education. Teachers use California State Standards to guide their instruction. The staff use the result of the CAASPP assessments to plan for this year's instruction and plan interventions for target students. In order to monitor students' progress, teachers administer common formative and summative assessments, and trimester district benchmark assessments to inform instructional decisions. Benchmark assessments assess writing, reading, and math skills and progress toward mastery of standards. Teachers in every content area meet weekly with their Grade Level, Content Department, or Job-alike teachers to plan common formative and summative assessments, analyze the data from those assessments and make instructional decisions based on the data.

Mountain View Whisman School District adopted a new English Language Arts' curriculum, Study Sync, in the 2016-2017 school year that aligns to the new state standards. Study Sync is an extremely thorough and rigorous curriculum that has served to better prepare our students to meet or exceed standards. This is our third year using they Study Sync curriculum. Teachers now have a better understanding of what the curriculum provides and how they can adapt it to meet the diverse needs of our students.

Students, parents, and staff members received scores from Smarter Balanced Assessment Consortium (SBAC) tests, which are part of the California Assessment of Student Progress and Performance (CAASPP). The results of this assessment are used to identify area of need and served as a starting point for this year's Single Plan for Student Achievement.

We are in the second year of implementation of a cascading schedule. This schedule allows all students to take a least one elective throughout the school year, including Response to Instruction (RTI) classes for all students to provide intervention and enrichment opportunities in Math and English Language Arts. In addition, we are continuing our co-teaching classes in Math and English Language Arts. These implementations help align our school with our district strategic plan and supports all students.

New for the 2019-2020 school year is the use of I-Ready diagnostic assessments in English language arts and math, three time per school year to drive our instructions and interventions

2. Use of data to monitor student progress on curriculum-embedded assessments and modify instruction

Teachers work in collaborative teams within a Professional Learning Community to develop common formative assessments. These assessments are designed to assess learning of key standards needed for growth and to address areas of need as indicated by curriculum assessments, district benchmark assessments, and state assessments. Teachers also collaborate in partnership with the other middle school in the district to develop assessments and pacing guides. Data from these assessments are used to measure student growth, analyze instructional practices, and create continuous improvement goals.

Staffing and Professional Development

3. Status of meeting requirements for highly qualified staff (ESEA)

Based on the new laws associated with the Every Student Succeeds Act and California's new state assignment accountability system, Districts must identify the number of teachers that are in the following categories: 1. Misassigned (teaching without the appropriate credential) 2. Out of Field (teaching with a limited permit) 3. Ineffective (has taught less than 3 years). Graham Middle school has no misassigned teachers, no out of field teachers, and 5 teachers in their first two years of teaching. All other teachers are considered "highly qualified".

Graham currently has five teachers that are participating in the teacher induction program, which is a partnership between the District and the Santa Cruz Silicon Valley New Teacher Project. This two-year program provides teachers with support and training in their new profession and allows them to obtain a Clear California Teaching Credential.

In addition to the New Teacher Program, all teachers receive support and guidance from administration, office staff, colleagues, and instructional coaches.

At the beginning of the year Mountain View Whisman School District provided all teachers professional development on Sheltered Instruction Observation Protocol (SIOP), the program our district chose to help close the achievement gap for our English Learners. The district has a three year SIOP implementation plan that includes staff development throughout the year. The coaches and administrators do weekly walk-throughs and provide feedback to teachers on what is going well in terms of the SIOP implementation and opportunities for growth.

4. Ongoing instructional assistance and support for teachers (e.g., use of content experts and instructional coaches)

Graham Middle School shares instructional coaches with Crittenden (the other middle school in our district.) They serve in mathematics, science and literacy to support collaboration teams, teachers' professional goals, site plan strategies, district initiatives, and classroom management.

The instructional coaches provide professional development during staff meetings as well as optional staff development opportunities after school. In addition, the school District provides professional development and coaching for SIOP, RTI, Co-teaching and other academic areas based on our district strategic plan.

5. Teacher collaboration by grade level (kindergarten through grade eight [K–8]) and department (grades nine through twelve)

At Graham Middle School, teachers have the opportunity to collaborate daily with job-alike colleagues due to an additional preparation period from the middle schools' new cascading schedule. All mathematics, science, social studies, language arts and special education teachers have common preparation time to assist in planning in instruction. Additional teacher collaboration occurs within grade level teams, content-area departments, release planning days, and staff meetings. Furthermore, Graham teachers share release days with colleagues from the other middle school in our district, Crittenden, to align instructional practices.

Opportunity and Equal Educational Access

6. Services provided by the regular program that enable underperforming students to meet standards

At Graham Middle School, all students have the chance to be successful. In all of our classrooms, teachers use researched based instructional practices to ensure students attain academic success. Teachers regularly monitor students' progress to identify students that are struggling to attain grade level standards. In order to assist these students, teachers use resources from our district adopted curriculum and other researched based resources. We provide tutorial and intervention support, throughout the week for students who are struggling. We work collaboratively with our city partner "The Beat" to support student learning. Graham has a guidance counselor, two At-Risk Supervisors, and a School Community Engagement Facilitator who help identify students that are struggling and help coordinate resources to support students. We coordinate services with community partner agencies to support students educational and social emotional needs.

Parental Involvement

7. Resources available from family, school, district, and community to assist under-achieving students

Graham offers multiple resources to our students and families to support under-achieving students and other students that qualify for services. We provide after school academic and recreation programs for students underperforming, before and after school enrichment programs, and counseling programs.

Teachers offer strategies and resources to support at-risk and under-achieving students' academic success. Graham's School Community Engagement Facilitator, At-Risk Coordinators, and Guidance Counselor help connect families with community agencies and is able to inform parents of the many opportunities that parents can be involved with their child's education.

8. Involvement of parents, community representatives, classroom teachers, other school personnel, and students in secondary schools, in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of ConApp programs (5 California Code of Regulations 3932)

Graham Middle School believes that parents are an essential component of the school community and success. Parents regularly participate in committees and events like School Site Council (SSC), English Language Advisory Committee (ELAC), PTA, Graham Performing Arts Association, Back to School Nights, Open House, and Parent Teacher Conferences, Welcome Week, Spring Fling, College and Career Day, graduation activities. Our staff communicates with parents regarding student successes and areas that need improvement.

Funding

9. Services provided by categorical funds that enable underperforming students to meet standards

Graham Middle School is a district-funded school. While approximately 35% of families qualify for free or reduced lunch, Graham does not receive Title I funding. The majority of funds are allocated to Targeted Student Support and Site Discretionary categories, and each year our Site Council evaluates the progress of our students and works to allocate the funds to help underperforming students meet state standards. At Graham, this funding has been used to pay for after school homework assistance, intervention, tutoring, and purchasing materials to support English Language Learners, Socioeconomically Disadvantaged students, and Foster Youth.

Description of Barriers and Related School Goals

One of the major barriers is the changing community at Graham. Since 2010, Graham has grown from six hundred students to almost 900 students. We are serving more students that are in transition and foster youth. Another barrier is the continual change to our staffing. We lose teachers each year as they move to areas with more affordable housing. Hiring and retaining highly qualified teachers is challenge.

Graham Middle School saw a decrease in the number Reclassified Fluent English Proficient students in both Mathematics and Language Arts on the 2019 California State Assessments. Our new school goals and key strategies are specific to RFEP students and English Language Learners to help them be more successful at school.

Achievement in mathematics has been inconsistent. Teachers are getting additional professional development and support this year.
