I have 22 years of experience in working with children of different abilities. My experience spans from public pre-school programs, elementary, middle, high school and juvenile justice system. I have seen kids who are thriving in public school and those who fall through the crack and felt utter helplessness in that situation. That helplessness was the reason why I quit public schools and started my own private practice. I have been in private practice for 8 years now and I have seen how we can prepare children for success with simple solutions at the right time.

I believe my experience and expertise will be an asset to the oversight committee.
